Santa Clarita's History

Many generations have passed through this valley, each leaving its own trace of history. The valley has been home to Native Americans, explorers, soldiers, pioneers, farmers, ranchers, and shopkeepers.

Dating back to the year 450, the Tataviam tribe settled in a mountainous region, later named Santa Clara by Spanish migrants. In conflict leading to revolution in Mexico, Spanish soldiers fled to the Santa Clara region and named the region in honor of St. Clare and later calling the local river "little" Santa Clara, the valley was then named accordingly, and took the name of Santa Clarita.

The first recorded discovery of gold in California occurred in Santa Clarita six years prior to its discovery at Sutter's Mill in Sacramento. As the story goes, in 1842, Juan Francisco de Gracia Lopez was napping under a massive oak tree in Placerita Canyon, and he dreamt that he was surrounded by gold and became very rich. Upon awakening, he picked a bunch of wild onions growing nearby, and attached to the onion roots were several small pieces of gold. This discovery greatly impacted further development, namely the Newhall pass, which was constructed for the transportation of mining supplies.

Henry Mayo Newhall established what was then known as the town of Newhall, and, in 1878, planted corn, flax, and alfalfa. This was the beginning of the Newhall Land and Farming Company. The 1870's also brought about the Southern Pacific Railroad. The Ironhorse, or so it was named, laid its tracks across the valley bringing with it new towns and increased population. Saugus was named after a small town in Massachusetts where Henry Mayo Newhall was born.

Black Gold, a substance which oozed from the ground, rarely served a purpose for the Indians. However, in 1875 the rivers of oil were diverted into the first commercially producing oil well in Pico Canyon. CSO 4, as it was called, was operated by the forerunners of the Standard Oil Company, and had the distinction of being the oldest operating oil well in the world until capped in 1990.

The 1900's brought prosperity and new businesses to the valley, some of which remain today. For example, Sterling Borax began production during that time period, and the once-named "Saugus Station Eatery," now called the Saugus Café, is still open for business daily. Many businesses opened shop during this era, including general stores, post offices, and churches.

Spruce Street – 1916 (Main Street)

This growing community, with its rich and diverse surroundings of mountains, trees, and deserts, attracted Gene Autry and his western style television show. By the early 1900's, Hollywood studios were using the area's rugged canyons as locations for filming their Westerns. The new home for Melody Ranch was "Western" town, renamed and used as the set for Gene Autry's television show. William S. Hart, a prominent Hollywood film star of the 1920's, left his mark on the community by building his home here and. upon his death, leaving it to the County. The Hart Mansion provides tourists and residents a chance to recapture the feelings of the old west and the beginnings of the western film Today, the movie business has business. become one of the leading industries in the area and is an important factor in its economic growth.

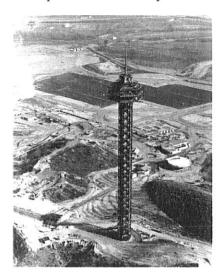

The Saugus Speedway, now used for a local swap meet and as an arena for large public events, was once the Baker-Hoot Gibson Rodeo Arena, which held massive regional rodeos, drawing people from all over southern California.

With the development of this growing community came a need for the distribution of information, and thus the Newhall Signal newspaper was founded by Edward H. Brown. By the year 1940, Santa Clarita's population had reached 4,000. Six years later, the first high school in the William S. Hart District was dedicated. With the development of schools came the construction of tract homes, the first being Rancho Santa Clarita.

In 1963, Canyon Country was founded and the first celebration of Frontier Days took place. In demand of all the new developments and residents, the Santa Clarita National Bank opened its doors in 1965. The community of Valencia was dedicated in 1967, and at that time houses were selling for a mere $25,000.

Higher education opened its doors to the valley in the late sixties and early seventies. College of the Canyons and California Institute of the Arts, which was incorporated by Walt Disney, were established and serviced the needs of this growing community.

The picture below shows the construction of Magic Mountain, with the Santa Clarita Valley in the background. Magic Mountain opened in 1971, bringing in thousands of tourists and giving the valley a significant landmark. Today, it is one of the largest amusement parks in the country.

In 1975, Henry Mayo Newhall Memorial Hospital was founded, as well as the Santa Clarita Valley Historical Foundation, which maintains and protects the rich history of the valley.

In the 1980's, "Santa Clarita" became a common term. The eighties also brought a staggering increase in population, bringing the total number of residents to 81,816. In 1985, the Chamber of Commerce instituted a study on the economic feasibility of becoming an incorporated city; two years later what is now the City of Santa Clarita was approved by the voters. The City of Santa Clarita is a General law City operating under a Council Manager form of government, with the City Council acting as the part time legislative body of the City. Five members are elected to the City Council at large on a nonpartisan basis, with members serving four year terms. Elections are staggered every two years, with the Council-appointed Mayor serving a one year term and acting as presiding officer.

The City Council appoints a City Manager to be the Chief Administrative Officer responsible for the day to day operations of the City. The City Manager's duties include appointing Department Directors, who are then responsible for the day to day operations of their own departments. Department Directors then have the task of selecting Division Managers and support staff members.

Also appointed by the City Council is the City Attorney, who is the legal advisor to the Council, Commissioners, and other City officials.

Assisting the City Council in serving the Santa Clarita communities are a variety of boards and commissions which address specific needs within their particular realm of responsibility. Each board and commission has the opportunity to get involved in a wide range of activities from reviewing City ordinances to recommending major revisions to City programs. Public meetings are held on a regular basis.
